¹ These first three headings you will fill in your child's name and after understanding the ordering and perceptive skills of the child, you will know what they find easy and what they battle with, as well as what they need for esteem and learning.

² Your child's spiritual growth is hard to measure. Ensure that you are growing and learning from God's word too as what you do not have, you cannot impart.

³ Knowing the chores that need to get done is a great starting point for lifeskills. The rest can be learnt alongside you, mom, as you go about your tasks. Keep your children close by your side!

⁴ To function in the 21st century your children needs these academic skills. Let them take the place they deserve in your home.

EXTRA MURALS⁶

⁵ Here is the place for your child's creative bents to be developed, not for you to push an agenda.

⁶ Extra murals can be the fist thing to drain a mom's strength and your child's creativity when you spend all your afternoons rushing to and fro. Determine what is truly necessary for your child's growth and personality towards your entire lifetime goal for this child.
